

THE FARMER AND PROTECTIVE TARIFF

AND THE PEOPLE PAY! DIRECT ELECTION IS SURE

HERE IS EXCELLENT SAMPLE OF PROTECTION RUN MAD.

Provisions of Aldrich-Payne Law Are Responsible If Paper-Manufacturing Business Is Driven Out of the Country.

The paper-manufacturing business has been in much greater danger of being driven out of the United States by the provisions of the Aldrich-Payne law, for which the paper manufacturers themselves were responsible, than by Canadian reciprocity. A house committee, after a most exhaustive investigation, reported that a rate of $2 a ton on print paper would afford ample protection. The paper men resisted and succeeded in having the rate fixed at $3.75 for the most common grade.

While these duties were under discussion it was well known that the province of Quebec was threatening to prohibit altogether the exportation of pulp wood cut from Crown lands. It was not openly stated that the consideration which Quebec would require for withholding this prohibition would be the free importation of paper to the United States, but that was the manifest and well-understood purpose of the Canadian action. As soon as the Payne-Aldrich law was enacted the Quebec prohibition was ordered.

The American paper manufacturers had invested large sums—$13,000,000 it was said—in an attempt to get control of the Canadian pulp supply. The export prohibition meant that they could not use the timber they had bought except by moving their mills into Canada. By their shortsighted policy they had cut themselves off from their best supply of raw material. By humoring them, the United States congress had taken action which could have no other eventual effect than to drive the greater part of the industry out of this country.

And that was called protection! It was protection only for a few mills which were getting their timber supply from Maine or other sources not affected by the Quebec prohibition. In its broader features it was destruction.

The paper manufacturers tried to induce the government to help them out by declaring a general tariff war against Canada. President Taft wisely refused to enter upon a tariff war. A temporary agreement was patched up at a meeting between him and the Canadian finance minister at Albany. A condition of that truce was that negotiations for a more complete and just reciprocity should be hurried forward as rapidly as possible. The result is the agreement announced last month.—Buffalo Express (Rep.).

"Protection."

In its savage and reckless attack on American securities, the Berlin Tages Zeitung discloses the fear which American competition awakens in the minds of our German friends. It says:

"At a time when the German steel industry has to compete with America as its strongest rival in South America and the far east, it would amount to treason to our own interests if we allowed ourselves to be made the dumping ground for billions of worthless bonds and railway shares."

Now glance at the facts the other way around. If America is the "strongest rival" in South America and the far east for the German steel industry, why should America be taxed $2.50 a ton on ingots and steel rails and $6 a ton on structural steel? If our steelmakers can undersell Germany in the open markets of the world, need they fear that Germany, or any other nation, will undersell them in our own markets? In the light of such facts is not "protection" a humbug?

Raising Sectional Issue.

When Mr. Root, of the floor of the senate, threatens that the federal government will interfere unless the south makes an end of lynchings, poeignty and the disfranchisement of negroes he deliberately raises a sectional issue. Is he sincere in what he says or had he an ulterior motive in injecting this question into the debate on popular election of United States senators? And if the south is threatened with federal interference on account of lynchings, why not Ohio and Illinois?

People Understand Situation.

The American people were promised a revision of the tariff downward, which they did not get. Result, a political revolution in state and nation. The people are alert. They understand the whole tariff question much better than they did ten or twenty years ago, well enough to know that they favor reciprocity. They demand it. It will be the issue from this time forward, and if the present congress does not give it there will be further evolution.

CONGRESS

The house Saturday night voted overwhelmingly for the policy of fortifying the Panama canal and appropriating $3,000,000 for the purpose of beginning the work.

The Norris resolution, aimed at the alleged coffee trust, and asking the attorney general to report to congress whether such a combination exists was unanimously reported by the house judiciary committee.

Charles D. Hillis of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., at present assistant secretary of the treasury, has accepted the place of secretary to the president, to succeed Charles D. Norton, it was learned on unquestionable authority.

Routine of Daily Proceedings.

In the senate Monday speeches were made by Senators Nelson and Heyburn on the resolution looking to the popular election of senators. No vote was reached. Eulogies of the late Senators Daniel of Virginia and McEnery of Louisiana consumed much of the time.

The long house filibuster was ended with the passage of an omnibus bill which does not carry the French spoliation and the navy yard overtime claims. The passage of the bill was secured by the adoption of a rule limiting debate on any measure to forty minutes and cutting off amendments. The navy appropriation bill was considered at a night session.

In the senate Tuesday Mr. Beveridge began but did not conclude a speech against Mr. Lorimer's retention of his seat. Mr. Beveridge was frequently interrupted, his chief interrupter being Mr. Bailey. As night approached unanimous consent was asked and granted for Mr. Beveridge to conclude Wednesday. He will probably follow Mr. Lorimer himself. The feature of the session was the reading of a letter from a North Dakota farmer criticizing James J. Hill for his utterances regarding Canadian reciprocity.

The day in the house was devoted to the naval appropriation bill. An amendment was adopted to prevent the navy department from transporting coal from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast for naval vessels there. It must be secured from western mines. The entire naval increase program was concurred in.

Mr. Lorimer held the floor practically throughout the session of the senate Wednesday. His speech defending his claim to his seat was heard by almost the full membership, and all day the galleries were thronged. No vote was reached on the Lorimer case. Mr. Young of Iowa read Washington's farewell address at the opening of the session.

The naval appropriation, the diplomatic and consular appropriation and the fortification bills were passed by the house. They carry a total of $136,000,000. Representative Sheppard of Texas delivered a eulogy on Washington that brought applause from the galleries, which also were filled with holiday crowds.

In the senate Thursday a resolution by Senator Cummins calling upon the president for information bearing upon the Canadian reciprocity agreement was adopted. Senator Beveridge spoke for four hours on the Lorimer case, announcing that he would continue his speech Friday.

A day devoted in the house to appropriation measures came to a lively conclusion, when, just before adjournment, Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming and Delegate James Wickham of Alaska met in a personal clash. Blows were aimed, but friendly intervention prevented their landing. The passage between the men was followed by the defeat of the Mondell bill providing for the leasing of government coal lands in Alaska. The house passed the military academy appropriation bill and the Moon bill for the codification of the judiciary laws.

Friday in the senate was devoted largely to the Lorimer case, but at the conclusion of Senator Beveridge's speech in opposition to the Illinois senator, which had been delivered in three installments, there came the transaction of business in rapid-fire order. First the Sutherland amendment to the resolution calling for the election of senators by direct vote of the people was adopted by a vote of fifty to thirty-seven. Then Tuesday was fixed as the time for voting on the resolution itself. Finally the Lorimer case was made the unfinished business of the senate. The Canadian reciprocity bill was received from the committee on finance.

The day in the house was spent in considering the sundry civil bill and a night session was held. A number of changes were made.

WAS JUST COPYING MAMMA

Child's Actions That at First Mystified Father Were Easily Explained.

The little six-year-old daughter of a well-known club woman was found in her play room the other day doing all kinds of acrobatic stunts and gesticulating wildly and weirdly.

"What are you doing?" asked the child's father.

"I'm playing 'I'm mamma,'" she answered. Then she made more unique movements with her little arms and said, "There father, you accept them. That's what they do when mamma makes them."

"What shall I accept?" asked the father, still more mystified, "and what does mamma make?" Tell me what you are doing.

"Why," she said, "I'm playing that I am mamma at her club. Whenever mamma goes to her club she makes motions and the others accept them. I heard her say so over the telephone to Mrs. Smith this morning."—Illustrated Magazine.

COULD NOT STAND SUFFERING FROM SKIN ERUPTION

"I have been using Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for the past three months and I am glad to say that they cured me of a most annoying skin eruption. It began by my noticing red blotches appearing on my face and scalp. Although they were rather disagreeing, I did not think anything of them until they began to get scaly and dry and to itch and burn until I could not stand the suffering. Then I began to use a different soap, thinking that my old skin might be hurting me, but that didn't seem to do any good. I went to two different doctors but neither seemed to relieve me any. I lost many nights' sleep in continual scratching, sometimes scratching till I drew the blood on my face and head. Then I started in to use the Cuticura Remedies and in two months I was entirely relieved of that awful pest. I am so delighted over my cure by Cuticura Remedies that I shall be glad to tell anybody about it." (Signed) G. M. Macfarland, 221 West 115th St., New York City, Oct. 5, 1910.
